1pm to 3pm on the Third Tuesday of the month

Sep. 19      Louisa: The Extraordinary Life of Mrs. Adams by Louise Thomas

A nuanced portrait of a multi-talented and widely traveled woman, often overshadowed by other members of America's first political dynasty.

Oct. 17      To the Bright Edge of the World: a Novel by Eowyn Ivey

From the adventurous story of Alaskan frontier to the innovative presentation on the pages, this historical novel blends folklore, science, feminism, and the art of photography.

Nov. 21      The Firebrand and the First Lady: Portrait of a Friendship: Pauli Murray, Eleanor Roosevelt, and the Struggle for Social Justice by Patricia Bell-Scott. The correspondence of two trailblazing women embodies the tension between the need for immediate action on civil rights versus the political philosophy of picking one's battles.

Dec. 19      Luncheon Meeting Georgia House in Selbyville

Jan. 16      The Nix: A Novel by Nathan Hill: When his absent mother gets arrested for a activist crime, a half-hearted college professor undertakes an offbeat voyage of self-discovery

Feb. 20      Hidden Figures: The American Dream and the Untold Story of the Black Women Mathematicians Who Helped Win the Space Race by Margot Lee Shetterly: The compelling narrative of the unsung heroines who helped us win WW!! And reach for the stars.

Mar. 20      Missile Paradise: A Novel by Ron Tanner: Drama and Satirical humor intertwine to create an insightful story of regret, exposing American privilege and its effects on the Marshallese people.

Apr. 17      Valiant Ambition: George Washington, Benedict Arnold and the Fate of the Am. Revolution by Nathaniel Philbrick: The grueling course of the Revolutionary War tested its generals harshly, leading one of them to abandon the cause.

May 15      The Sort of Kings: A Novel by C. E. Morgan: A Kentucky horse farmer breeds thoroughbreds, but his focus on controlling the outcomes of life, both equine and human, has far-reaching consequences.

Jun. 19      The Gene: An Intimate History by Siddhartha Mukherjee: A cancer physician and researcher uses his family history to frame the story of genetics, in all its danger and wonder.

July 17      An Unrestored Women by Shoba Rao: Women recover or lose themselves amidst the backdrop of war, power, and politics after the 1947 Partition of India and Pakistan

Aug. 21      The Boys in the Bunkhouse: Servitude and Salvation in the Heartland by Dan Barry: Spanning decades, a group of men with intellectual disabilities, marginalized by society, work tirelessly in a turkey processing plant in Iowa.
